

After disappointing years of outside management, I have decided that no one can or will represent my interests as well as I am able to do. Expertise is achieved by cumulative experience and after forty years of business, I am pulling together dedicated and concerned people to push forward my career.

Too few people have experienced Mighty Sam McClain's music. It is my wish to bring my music to the audience I know is out there. The primary aim of McClain Management is to represent me in search of appropriate opportunities to share my music.

On the "home-front" my daughter, Jennifer Perkins, will act on my behalf in introductions to club owners, promoters, festival committees, press, media and special events directors. Jennifer will be in touch with you shortly to answer any questions that you may have. Your input is welcome on all levels. Booking arrangements can be discussed with Jennifer at the address or phone/fax below.

Sincerely,

Sam McClain
